

TPP timeframe

After all the below procedures, the final congressional vote could come as early as April or as late as December of 2016. The presidential and congressional elections next November could further affect the timing

